

Fractal

Brian Allan Skinner

The bones of houses
topple into the forest
from which they were hewn.

Vines entangle the trees bring them down in silence, and molder in the earth.

Woodsmen build houses
in the clearing, plant ivy in the garden shade.